THE TICKET AND PLATFORM.

What is Thought of Them by the Press and Public.

Gov. McCreary: "It is good all around. We are going to keep all we got in 1884 and will in my opinion gain some votes in the Northwest."

Detroit Free Press: "The nomination of Allan G. Thurman for Vice-President completes and rounds out the democratic ticket into perfect symmetry. Like Mr. Cleveland, he is the nominee of the party, not merely at the convention."

Louisville Post: "While the democracy has a weak platform, it has a strong ticket, and as the people vote for men and party, and not for the meaningless promises of 'policy' of the latter, there is an excellent chance for its success in November."

New York Herald: "It is as good a platform as was ever adopted by a convention; clear, straightforward, without quibble or doubletongue. What it declares concerning promises redeemed is true; what it promises the ticket guarantees."

Mr. Bragg, of California: "The placing of Thurman's name on the ticket makes the vote of California certain for the democrats. He has always been with us on the Chinese question. His financial views are also perfectly satisfactory to us."

Louisville Commercial: "Cleveland and Thurman represent the best and most successful elements of their party. No stronger combination could have been made. A more meaningless jumble of words, as regards the tariff, could not have been produced, unless some bungling printer should 'pi' the dictionary and send the term to press without revision."

New York Sun (anti-Cleveland and anti-democratic): "As a matter of composition it is a clumsy, incongruous, sleepy piece of work, and as for principles, the whole of it is contained in the first twelve lines. In this declaration the whole elaborate reasoning of President Cleveland's message against any reduction of the internal revenue is pitched overboard, we trust with his full consent."

Cleveland Plaindealer: "The ticket satisfies every requirement. It is invulnerable from every point of attack. It appeals to the reason and calm judgment of the people, not less than to the enthusiastic devotion of the party to its greatest living statesman. The platform is a conservative statement, yet it makes a bold proclamation on the vital issues that are actually before the country and which have to be faced and settled in some practical way."

Chicago Times (Ind.): "The St. Louis convention has completed its work to the satisfaction of the democratic party and of the public who believe in honest and economical government. Like those presidents whose services have gained the commendation of their party, Mr. Cleveland has been re-nominated, and his prospects for re-election are excellent. Cleveland, Thurman and tax reform will enter the canvass with well-rounded assurance of success. Monopolies will oppose the men and the plan, but truth and the people are mighty."

Courier-Journal: "Cleveland and Thurman! there is magic in that legend. It is the combination which gives every assurance of zeal, courage and discretion. No doubt exists any longer in the mind of any man as to the purposes of the democratic party towards the tariff. Whatever doubt may have existed as to the meaning of any phrase of that instrument is removed by the declaration that the party reiterates those declarations as interpreted by the message of Mr. Cleveland, and the subsequent approval of the action of democrats in Congress, who for four years have labored to give force and effect to the promises of 1884. So formally begins a campaign which is to end in another term of democratic administration of a democratic government—a campaign which in those elements that appeal both to reason and sentiment promises to be the most notable since the memorable contests in the old days of the democrats and whigs."

Indianapolis Sentinel: "The most ardent tariff reformer could not have asked a more clear, explicit or emphatic definition of the principles and policy of the party. It voices the convictions of the democratic masses of the country upon the supreme issues of the hour in unmistakable language. It will meet with special favor in the Western States and it will be vastly more popular everywhere than if its language had been evasive and equivocal." Of President Cleveland's re-nomination it declares that "it was clearly the logic of the situation," and that "few nominations for the presidency have entered a canvass with greater prestige, a stronger title to the confidence of the country, or a better assurance of success." Of the vice-presidential nominee the same paper says: "Never was an honor more worthily bestowed. The name of Allen G. Thurman is a synonym for all that is wise and great in statesmanship, pure and upright in public life and amiable and lovable in character."

Mr. Springer, of Illinois: "It is a ticket of giants. It is as big at one end as it is at the other. It will be strong with all people who want a plain and simple form of government. The platform is everything that could be desired."

Roger Q. Mills: "The ticket is all that we could ask. As to the tariff plank let me say that had I framed it myself I think I should have written it differently. So far as general principles go, however, the platform is in every way strong enough, and we should not forget that after all it is the principle we are contending for."

Billy Breckinridge: "It is a great ticket. The country has had a chance to judge of Cleveland, and Thurman is a man of national reputation. He is strong everywhere and weak nowhere. In my opinion he is the best man who could have been put on the ticket. As for the tariff plank, I am satisfied with what has been done."

N. Y. World: "It is a strong ticket which the democratic convention completed yesterday by the nomination of Allan G. Thurman for Vice-President. With President Cleveland as the representative of the principle of tax reduction through tariff reform, and Judge Thurman as a veteran statesman, whose name is a synonym for honesty, courage and fidelity to the constitution, the ticket appeals both to the judgment and the sentiment to the interest and the feeling of every democratic voter in the land."

Louisville Times: "The platform is all right. It interprets the tariff plank of 1884 as Cleveland construed it in his last annual message to Congress and as the Ways and Means committee construed it in the Mills Bill. The issue is the administration, the message and the tariff bill. The republicans oppose all of them, the democrats endorse all of them. Let the republicans abuse the platform as much as they wish, it is going to drive no democrat from the support of the ticket, and it is the very last ticket that could have been selected from the more than 5,000,000 democratic voters in the United States. It will run like the cholera."

St. Louis Republic: "No ticket put in the field by the democratic party has ever been placed there under more favorable auspices, or with a more assured promise of success. It is strong in the conditions and circumstances that surround it. Of the platform put forth by the convention, it may be said it closes one political war and opens another. It closes the era of campaigns fought on the dead and buried issues of the war, and it marks the opening of a new era, in which the democratic party at least goes to the people with a square and unqualified proclamation of the party's regard for the most momentous question that has confronted the country since the questions arising out of slavery were settled by arbitrament of the sword."

Cincinnati Enquirer: "The work of the democratic convention is ended, and it leaves nothing to regret. The democratic party goes once more before the people with a declaration whose tone is proud and confident. It is a battle cry. It has nothing to excuse, nothing to palliate. The verdict rendered at the election of 1884 will be repeated this fall. The democrats have gained much in the interval, and have lost nothing. Returning to power for the first time in a quarter of a century, the party has most conspicuously shown its ability to govern and the thorough conservatism of its methods. They enter this new contest, therefore, with many millions of friends who were not with them in 1884 and enter it with a ticket chosen by acclaim. Cleveland and Thurman the next President and Vice-President of the United States."

An Exchange says: "A Kansas school man has introduced a new feature in her school. When one of the girls misses a word the boy who spells it gets the permission to kiss her. As a result the boys are improving rapidly." It fails to state whether the girls are missing more words than usual.

LETTER FROM GEORGE O. BARNES

FRANKLIN, KY., JUNE 8, 1888.

DEAR INTERIOR:—A brief letter, "gentle" Walton by the way what kin are you to old "Lank," the patron saint of the fisher folk? on your extravagance. Do you think, my dear boy, that I have nothing to do but write letters for the Interior journal, that you make such a reckless use of my brains as to scatter them over 34 columns at a time? I might have borne it on the first page, or inside, but to be pilloried on the 4th page, where you print "Tales of a Detective," and "Legends of Smugglers' Cave" et idcirco quous, well, if I were not saturated with my own gospel, G. I. L. A. N. E., I would denounce that part of it. But the point I want to make is this, "Waste not want not." It is only a happy accident of a family character, that will give you a letter this week at all, which is more than you deserve after the prolix "waste" of me in 6 mortal Barnes columns in two issues. The public and I will both "give out" at that rate. A plain case of "burning the candle at both ends."

In a world a judicious division is called for, of what I can only write as I have opportunity, and feel like it; so that a "least or a famine" policy will give place to regular meals, without danger of indigestion. Verb. sup. ant. Do you "hitch on," dear?

The family incident alluded to is one that has invaded more family circles than mine. Boarding with us at the Boissau House is bright-faced, intelligent, talkative little lady from the Hoosier State, who is the very efficient agent of the "National Garment Cutter." You will have to advertise them gratis if you print this letter. For the attractive person, who represents that wonderful interest here, talked us all into the notion of trying it in no time. George is the artist of the family and we decided that she should go first. And when, after a few hours of study of the "machine" she produced an "under-body," or something also pertaining to the indescribable complications of feminine apparel, that fitted Marie "like paper on the wall," we exchanged faith for sight and grew rapturously enthusiastic. Remember, George didn't know a "gusset" from a "band," or the difference between a "hem" and a "tuck." Taken away from school and turning evangelist, immediately, without the opportunity of either beginning or perfecting herself in the mysteries pertaining to thread and needle, she was as pitifully ignorant of even the "elements" of tailoring as any young lady of her inches in these United States. So when this untalented lassie brought us unaided a garment that was supposed to be the outcome of experience and skill, we were duly amazed thereat.

The next step in this episode of our quiet family history was to telegraph to Cincinnati for Sallie, our dear niece, who is trying hard to make a living in that sooty city, to come forthwith. This telegram being highly startling and unsatisfactory, awakening curiosity without satisfying it, must have cost Sallie agonies of unavailing guesses. Fancy a young lady, quietly pursuing the even tenor of her "Purchasing Agency" way, receiving the following message:

FRANKLIN, June 1:—Come immediately. Golden opportunity. Monday too late. Wire me when you start.

Yours, George O. Barnes.

This to ordinary nerves would have been sufficiently trying. But when I add that my dear niece has an extra share of that attribute of curiosity, incorrectly supposed to be monopolized by the "latter halves" of humanity, the period of suspense, amounting to 24 hours, must have been dreadful. However, she bore it better than we expected; did not have apoplexy; nor arrive in a state of purple suppression; but quite like her usual self. Sufficiently curious, though, and I thought disappointed, when the "National garment cutter" was announced as "golden opportunity." Coming from a quarter where "humbings" are rare and something of a "patent" nature daily turning up, she by no means shared our enthusiasm.

At the present writing she is about as wild on it as the rest of us, and is going to try an "agency."

As for George, that fanatical young giantess, on the second day of her frenzy had the audacity to cut into a dollar and a quarter dress goods that had been given her by Gallatin friends on her birth day, with as much confidence as if it had been 5-cent calico.

And, if you believe me, the ambitions youngster actually fitted the whole dress; cut it unaided, and would have triumphantly sewed every stitch in it had the capabilities of her wonderful little box full of traps not given out with cutting and fitting.

Our only difficulty has been to drag her away from the fascinating employment when meal times came around.

Yesterday I discovered and nipped in the bud a plan she had been surreptitiously hatching in that artistic brain of hers to make some money out of it and put the "Troupe" beyond the possibility of a recurrence of bankrupt experience in the proud capital of Mississippi. But I interposed at that stage with all the weight of parent's authority and after awhile succeeded in convincing her that it would not do to quit even the "National garment cutter" on to our Evangel; and that there was a wide difference between Paul making tents for a living and making money at gospel millinery. Finally she agreed to continue her attainments to the family and a few friends. So the case stands at present. It remains to be seen whether this will turn out a Frankenstein giant of trade, or one that can be managed properly. My young folks think there are "millions in it." From which you will rightly infer that we'll think much of the "National garment cutter." Sallie goes to Gallatin tomorrow to try her fortune while we go northward to Bowling Green to continue our work.

This Franklin meeting has been like "old times" to us all. Crowded houses, close attention; many blessed; many anointed for bodily healing; and something like the old Kentucky enthusiasm we knew so well years ago. These people seem less afraid to believe God is good than any community we have struck for a long time. We will always count it a special mercy that our wandering footsteps were directed hither.

The mineral water, that sorely tried nostril and palate, when we first came, is now a delicious draught to us, refreshing and satisfying beyond any water we ever drank. I think our gospel has turned out the same to many who didn't fancy it at first. "No man having drunk old wine straightway desireth new; for he saith the old is better." But that, the dear LORD intimates, comes from a vitiated taste. Only keep drinking, and soon the old, headachy, fiery stuff goes out of favor, and the "wine that cheers the heart of God and man" will supersede. Then the instructed, educated taste will no more go back to the abandoned thing than I desire a return to the ferocious theology of my boyhood.

Franklin is a gem of a place. My friend Dr. Duncan tells me the death rate in Simpson county is lower, by accurate comparison than in any other place in the U. S.

And it ought to be so, 1,200 above the sea level; in latitude "betwixt and between" the frigid North and the torrid South; country everywhere rolling and well drained; and a mineral water as health-restoring as any, perhaps, in our State, so highly blessed with recuperative springs; it is no wonder, if here, death should be more successfully held at bay than in other places.

To crown all, board is excellent and cheap. The public caterers do not go for the "bottom dollar," nor "kill the goose that lays the golden egg," as the shortsighted New Orleans publicans did when their big exposition collapsed the second year. You can take folks in once, but rarely twice. "A burnt child dreads the fire," I think I have heard remarked once or twice.

These red clay roads are perfect now, and the drives in every direction picturesque and charming. In winter, of course, these same roads, far surpassing hard pikes when dry, are an almost impassable "bobbly."

For a real, restful family gathering place, where summer quiet brings back the lost roses to the cheek, and impaired appetite to the dyspeptic, I know no place more inviting than Franklin. For dissipation, feverish excitement and the usual concomitants of "fashionable resorts," you need not come here.

We leave tomorrow with deep regret this delightful town, and leave behind many loving friends, as we leave away with us loving memories of their courtesy and kindness to the Troupe Evangelique.

Ever in Jesus, GEO. O. BARNES.

HALL'S WELL will open on Thursday night with a moonlight hop. A fine supper will be spread and a big time is guaranteed.

BANDANAS will be all the rage this year. The merchant who will first lay in a big stock of them will realize on his investment.

Klass had prepared to decorate his store front with red bandanas, but the storm interfered and the concert had to be held inside.

Owing to the fact that the orchestra will leave on the 3:27 train the night of the hop, dancing will begin promptly at 9 o'clock so as to complete the program. This is strictly business.

The INTERIOR JOURNALS, under Capt. Esie H. Hansford, beat the Rowlands Saturday afternoon 11 to 10, without playing the last half of the 9th inning. The boys tell us that both sides played worse than usual.

Supper will be furnished at Schilling & Zimmer's handsome new restaurant to the "hoppers" and visitors tonight at only 50 cents, and will include ice cream, sherbet, strawberries, cake, fruit and lemonade.

THOMAS C. BALL will resume business at the Union Store, Rowland, the last of this month, when he will "wake up" the natives with such a "terrible storm" of bargains that the "blast" will be heard far and near.

I have put on a comfortable spring wagon to run between here and Danville. Will leave here at 9 o'clock each morning, returning at 4 in the afternoon. Fare one way 75 cents, or round-trip $1.25. A. T. Nunnally.

Our friend, S. D. Good, representing the nursery of Snell & Howland, St. Louis, is driving a rushing business in this section and deserves the success he is making of his business. He makes a specialty of Keifer's Hybrid Pears, White Niagara Grapes and Osage Chances for hedging, and his prices are very low.

The trial of James T. Chapman for the murder of Harlan Elliott at Jenkins precinct at the August election, 1886, occupied the Casey circuit court from Monday till Saturday, when the jury was discharged, standing 3 for acquittal to 9 for manslaughter, with from two to 10 years. Col. Hill, R. C. Warren, E. J. Beckmire and Mr. Hays defended, and Stone & Stone and Clark & Adams presented. The trial of James Piles for killing Brownlow Lambtree is set for today. Court is being held in the Christian church.

The examining trial of Pink Farmer, Jack Terry, Jim Farmer, Jr., John Gaines and Wm. Terry, charged with unlawfully confederating together and destroying private property, was held before Judge Carson Saturday. It was shown that they had torn down a portion of Littleton Price's home because it had become a notorious resort for lewd women and men who made it a common nuisance. Judge Moore, their attorney, produced authorities to prove that under that state of case they had a right to tear it down, if they could do so peaceably, but the Judge held that it took direct proof of actual unlawful combination there to establish it a lawful house, so he held them in $25 each to the circuit court for destroying property unlawfully—a misdemeanor instead of the felony charged.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

The Covington Commonwealth announces the death of the noted Methodist minister, Rev. B. F. Bristow, at the good old age of 73. He lived a public life and enjoyed a grand old age. He has worked faithfully as a minister of the gospel for upwards of 50 years.

The Hawatha, Kansas, papers convey the sad news that Will C., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Yates, was killed by being run over by the wheels of a horse cart of the fire company, of which he was a member. He lived about 12 hours, but never regained his consciousness. He was born in Stanford in 1868, and was nearly 20 years of age. The papers contain high eulogies of his character and tender words of comfort for the stricken parents, but the latter avail little in such an hour. Sympathizing friends here will learn of their terrible bereavement with unfeigned sorrow.

Mrs. Amanda Walker Givens, widow of the late Squire Robert H. Givens, who preceded her to the tomb eight years, died at her home in this county Saturday night, at the ripe old age of 82. She was the oldest member of the Hintonville Presbyterian church and a good and true woman in every respect. Six children survive her—Mrs. W. F. McKinney, J. A. and R. H. Givens, Mrs. Edward Alcorn and Misses Belle and Lettie Givens, and although they were blessed with the love of a tender mother many years in excess of the time usually allotted to children, they yet give her up with reluctance, though fully aware that she is better off in a land that is fairer than day. The funeral discourse was preached by Rev. J. A. Bogle, for long years her pastor, and then a lengthy procession of friends followed the remains to Buffalo Spring Cemetery, where they were gently laid by the side of those of her husband.

After more than a year's illness of organic valvular disease of the heart, Mr. George W. James departed this life at his home at Crab Orchard, Friday, at noon, aged 63 years. Born in Pulaski county, he began life as a laborer at 25 cents a day, but by indomitable energy and fine business tact he soon began to shift for himself and to accumulate money, until at his death his estate is estimated at $50,000 to $75,000. He married Miss Bobbitt, a sister of Hon. Fountain Fox Bobbitt, and for many years they lived at Crab Orchard, where Mr. James engaged in the mercantile and other businesses. His wife preceded him to the grave a year or more ago, and it is probable that grief over her death hastened his own demise. He was a consistent member of the Baptist Church and a most useful man in his community, being ever ready to assist those that he thought were honestly striving to better their condition. Four children survive him and the public joins in lamenting his loss, which is its as well as theirs. The funeral discourse was preached by Rev. J. N. Bowling at the Baptist church Saturday afternoon, to a large audience of sympathizing friends, who afterwards followed the remains to their last resting place on Cemetery Hill.

A lengthy tribute to the deceased was received from Mr. Bobbitt yesterday, which will appear in next issue.

Program

Of Co-operative Meeting of the Christian Church in Lincoln County, to be held at Hargraveville, Saturday, June 16, 1888.

1. Introductory exercises.

2. Address of Welcome by Joseph Ballou.

3. Response—John Bell Gibson.

4. Christian Giving—Wilson Gough and Zack Shackelford.

5. Scriptural Plan of Missionary Work—William Stanley and Logan Williams. Dinner on the grounds.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

1. Business meeting.

2. Scriptural Relations Between Congregations of Disciples—H. C. Garrison, Joseph Ballou and John Bell Gibson.

3. The Gospel and the World—J. D. Livingston, Allen Butt and J. D. Montgomery.

Let no church in the county fail to send delegates.

J. Q. McCOMBERY, Pres.

JOHN BELL GIBSON, Sec'y.

A storm unprecedented in severity and rain-fall swept over the Upper Michigan Peninsula Saturday night. Houses were undermined and in some cases swept away; culverts and bridges were destroyed and miles of fencing and wooden sidewalks were washed away.

A daring attempt at train robbery and murder was made 12 miles from Cincinnati on the Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Chicago R. R., shortly after 10 o'clock Friday night. Just after leaving Delhi the baggage master, Jos. Zimmerman, noticed some men on the front platform of his car, and with the express messenger, Jos. Keckum, started toward the platform. The trespassers at once began firing, a bullet striking Keckum in a vital spot, the effects of which he died next day. A fight ensued, but the train men succeeded in getting the would-be robbers, 4 in number, off the train.

DECORATION DAY.

Cover their graves with beautiful flowers,
Every kind hand some gift should bring,
To scatter in sweet profusion here
Flowers of the first immortal Spring.

Oh, they were the noblest and best of all,
Who went bravely forth at their country's call,
Who fought on the battle field side by side,
Till wounded and bleeding, they fell there and died.

This little enough we can do to show
Our love and respect as the years come and go;
But this we can do while freedom's flag waves,
Place beautiful flowers on our hero's graves.

Since a moment here by this grass and soil,
See, the head-board is marked with the old word,
"Unknown."
It must be a young form that rests 'neath this clay,
For the brightest of sunbeams, the longest here stay.

In fancy I see a fair young face
Toward the bayonets turned in its manly grace;
A half from the foe comes thundering o'er head,
And he falls mid the slain on the battle field dead.

BAKING POWDERS.

Official Tests by the Ohio State Food Commission.

Analyses of the Chief Brands in the Market
Their Strength and Value Ascertained.

The Ohio State Dairy and Food Commission, under the direction of the Legislature of that State, has made public the result of its recent official examination of the baking powders of the market. As many of the brands analyzed are in use throughout the country, the report of the Commission will be found of general interest.

The startling fact is brought about by the report that of the 20 different brands of baking powder analyzed, 20 are made from alum, a substance declared by the highest medical authorities to be injurious to health when used in food.

The Commission classify the baking powders into three general divisions according to their value:

- 1st. Cream of Tartar Baking Powders.
- 2d. Phosphate Baking Powders.
- 3d. Alum Baking Powders.

The Commission explains that the best baking powder is that which, the ingredients being healthful gives off the largest amount of leavening gas and leaves the smallest amount of the residuum in the bread. A small amount of carbonate of ammonia, which is considered healthful, is used in some of the cream of tartar powders to give them a higher strength. The Commission says that alum is undoubtedly a harmful salt. The report ranks the powders and shows the amount in each of inert residuum, which in using it would appear as residuum in the bread as follows:

Name	Per Cent. Inert Residuum
CREAM OF TARTAR POWDERS
1. Royal	7.25
2. Dr. Price's	10.50
3. Pearson's	14.33
4. Cleveland's	10.15
5. Snow Brand	10.15
6. Upper Ten	6.22
7. Ho-Land's	7.32
8. Sterling	12.65
ALUM BAKING POWDERS
9. Horsford's	30.42
10. Wheat	30.25
11. Empire	34.50
12. Victory	30.33
13. Cook's Favorite	34.25
14. Sun Flower	14.65
15. Kettum	35.75
16. Patapoco	14.65
17. Jersey	10.65
18. Little Gem	10.65
19. Peerless	20.25
20. Silver Star	34.50
21. Crown	35.75
22. Crown (Special)	25.50
23. The Spoon	35.75
24. Wheeler's No. 15	35.75
25. Carleton	35.75
26. Zenith	35.75
27. Gem	35.75
28. Zipp's Grape Crystal	35.75
29. Forest City	35.75

The large amount of inert matter or residuum in both the phosphate and alum powders will be noted. This in the phosphate powders is largely of lime; in the alum powders it is chiefly alum. It will be gratifying to the public to observe that the powder in most general use, the Royal, is also the purest. In comparing the first two powders on the list, for instance—the Royal and Dr. Price's—the inert matter in Price's is seen to be about five in seven more than in the former, a difference of 71.57 per cent., the Royal being purer than Price's by a corresponding figure.

The carbonate or leavening gas produced by the powders indicates their strength; and their true value may be ascertained by considering the amount of this gas in connection with their inert matter or residuum as shown above. The higher the percentage of gas and the lower the percentage of residuum the better the baking powder. These percentages, as found in some of the most familiar powders, are given as follows:

Name	Leavening Gas	Per Cent. Residuum
Royal	11.50	7.25
Sterling	11.50	12.65
Price's	10.50	10.50
Dr. Land's	10.50	35.75
Forest City	10.50	35.75
Silver Star	10.50	34.50
Kettum	10.50	35.75
Patapoco	10.50	14.65
Empire	10.50	34.50
Cook's Favorite	10.50	34.25
One Spoon	10.50	35.75

With the foregoing explanation the study of these figures will readily give consumers a knowledge of the comparative value of the different brands. To illustrate with the percentages given the two powders before compared: The Royal, containing 11.5 parts of leavening gas to 10.5 in Price's, its excess of strength is 13 in 10.5, or 12.4 per cent. Royal is therefore 12.4 per cent. stronger, as well as 71 per cent. purer than Price's, etc. The relative strength and purity of all the powders can be computed in like manner.

—The Chinese now issue an illustrated paper in New York.

The Platform.
The Democratic party of the United States, in National Convention assembled, renews the pledge of the fidelity to Democratic faith, and reaffirms the platform adopted by its representatives in the convention of 1896, and in the views expressed by President Cleveland in his last annual message to Congress as the correct interpretation of that platform upon the question of tariff reduction, and also infers the efforts of our Democratic representatives in Congress to secure a reduction of excessive taxation.

Chief among its principles of party faith are the maintenance of an indissoluble union of free and indivisible states now about to enter upon its second century of unexampled progress and renown; devotion to a plan of government, regulated by a written constitution strictly applying every granted power and expressly reserving to the States or people the entire ungranted residue of power; the encouragement of a jealous popular vigilance, directed to all who have been chosen for brief terms to enact and execute the laws of the land, and charged with the duty of preserving peace, insuring equality and establishing justice. The Democratic party welcome an exacting scrutiny of the administration of the executive power, which in four years ago was committed to its trust in the election of Grover Cleveland President of the United States, and it challenges the most searching inquiry concerning its fidelity and devotion to the pledges which it received from the suffrages of the people. During a most critical period of our financial affairs, resulting from overvaluation, the anomalous condition of our currency and a public debt unexampled in history, but greatly promoted the prosperity of the people.

It has reversed the impudent and unwise policy of the Republican party touching the public domain, and has reclaimed from corporations and speculators, alienated and sold, and restored to the people nearly one hundred millions of acres of valuable land to be sacredly held as homesteads for our citizens.

While carefully guarding the interests of the taxpayer and conforming to the principles of justice and equity, it has paid out more for pensions and bounties to the sold and sailors of the Republic than was ever paid before during an equal period. By intelligent management and a judicious and economical expenditure of the public money it has set on foot the reconstruction of the American navy upon a system which forbids the recurrence of scandal and insures successful results. It has adopted and consistently pursued a firm and prudent foreign policy, preserving peace with all nations while scrupulously maintaining all the rights and interests of our own government and people at home and abroad.

The exclusion from our shores of Chinese laborers has been effectively secured under the provisions of a treaty the operation of which has been postponed by the action of a Republican majority in the Senate.

Honest reform in the civil service has been inaugurated and maintained by President Cleveland, and he has brought the public service to the highest standard of efficiency, only by rule and precept, but by the example of his own upright and unselfish administration of public affairs.

In every branch and department of the Government under Democratic control, the rights and welfare of all the people have been guarded and defended, every public interest has been protected, and the equality of all our citizens before the law, without regard to race or color, has been steadfastly maintained.

Upon its record thus exhibited, and upon the pledge of a continuance to the people of the benefits of good government, the National Democracy invokes a renewal of popular trust in the resolution of a Chief Magistrate who has been faithful, able and prudent. They invoke, in addition to that trust, the transfer to the Democracy of the entire legislative power.

The Republican party, controlling the Senate and residing in both houses, has by its formation of unjust and unequal laws which have outlasted the necessities of war and are now undermining the abundance of a long peace deny to the people equality before the law and the fairness and honesty which are their right. Thus the cry of American labor for a better share of the rewards of industry is stifled with false pretenses, enterprise is fettered and bound down to home markets, capital is driven with doubt and trepidation, and the country is left in a state of confusion. Laws are neither properly amended nor repealed.

The Democratic party will continue, with all the power conferred to it, to struggle to reform these laws, to protect the rights of the people, and to bring about a more equitable distribution of the national wealth, and the price of nearly every thing they buy is increased by the favoritism of an unequal system of taxation. All unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation. It is a popular duty to resist the enactment of laws which are not for the benefit of the people, but for the benefit of a few. The Democratic party will continue to fight for the rights of the people, and to bring about a more equitable distribution of the national wealth.

AT $25 TO INSURE A LIVING COLT.
Money due if mare is paired with 1st year was his first season, 4 of his 5 are already come, they are fine and large. Mr. Robert Collier has one and says it is the best colt ever foaled on his place. All the foals any one has ever had in regard to his breeding was that his colts would be small, the colts that have come prove to the contrary. Blumont is by Alexander's Belmont, son of Alexander's Abdullah and Bell by Mambrino Chief, who is the sire of Southwest 2185, Wedgewood 219; Vicking 2195; Dick Moore 2225; and in more than the 2nd set. First dam by Congress by Imported hand. Blumont two months last season, he was in shape he ran a good track in 2 1/2. He trotted Mr. Letcher's track when he was five years old, he ran a mile in 35 seconds. Timed by Mr. Letcher. He made a good race at Lexington considering he was in his 4th year.

HARKAWAY, $2875.
Private trial at 3 1/2 years of age on half mile track to 2 1/2 miles, 2 1/2.
